Fonda Fair set to open Wednesday; pageant, party on Saturday

By MORGAN FRISCH Record News Staff

FONDA — For six days, people can come to Montgomery County to enjoy rides, agriculture, and thrilling motorized events at the annual Fonda Fair.

This year’s 176th event begins on Wednesday and runs through Sept. 4, although events are taking place this weekend.

At 7 p.m. Saturday, the Miss Fonda Fair Pageant will take place in the entertainment center at the fairgrounds at 1 p.m., followed by a pre-party. The free event will include music by Peaceful Country Band from 7 to 11 p.m.

Fonda Fair Board President Richard Kennedy said one of this year’s major changes is switching from a second-day to a sixth-day event.

The fair will begin on Wednesday because the Coleman Brothers, which provide the rides, would not be able to set up on time Tuesday morning due to another event, Kennedy said.

To accommodate the Coleman Brothers, Kennedy said they decided to push back opening day, he said. He does not think this will impact attendance, which is usually about 70,000 people coming through the gates each year.

“The same people are going to come no matter what days the fair is,” Kennedy said. “Most people come to the fair once, some come twice. There are quite a few people who come every day of the fair. But, for the most part, people are going to pack a day to go to the fair and quite frankly, Tuesday was not our best-attended day.”

The crowning of Miss Fonda Fair typically took place on opening day so now the event was moved to Saturday.

Ukrainian Independence

The Ukrainian-American Community Heritage and Cultural Center for the Mohawk Valley hosted a ceremony Thursday afternoon at Amsterdam City Hall to commemorate Ukrainian Independence Day.

Mayor Michael Vila delivered a proclamation declaring the day to be the “26th Anniversary of Ukraine’s Independence from the Soviet Union. A flag raising ceremony was held beforehand and the event included the national anthems for the United States and Ukraine. A reception inside city hall followed the ceremony.

Fonda Soup Kitchen to move, meals temporarily stopped

By JOHN PURCELL Record News Staff

Hundreds of prepared meals are given to local residents each week, along with food to take home, from the AMEN Place Soup Kitchen in Amsterdam. But a forthcoming move will stop the prepared meals for about a month.

The AMEN (All Ministries Embracing Need) Place Soup Kitchen in Amsterdam will be closed at St. Luke’s Evangelical Lutheran Church for around eight weeks, but Tuesday, Aug. 29, will be the last time it operates in the furnished basement of the church.

Amsterdam residents Karl and Chris Andrzejczyk, wife and husband, founded the soup kitchen about 16 years, which had operated the Church’s Church until it closed. Karl Andrzejczyk said the soup kitchen has been averaging around 300 meals each week.

“We thought it was time to make a change,” Karl Andrzejczyk said. “We were given two months before going to press.”

Attempts to contact John Califano, pastor of St. Luke’s Church, were unsuccessful before going to press.

Chris Andrzejczyk said several buildings available in the immediate area were “just shells.” She said they eventually settled on 105 City Ave., a unit within the plaza housing Handy Ups N Downs thrift store.

Food distribution is targeted to begin around mid-September and prepared meals are hoped to be offered again early October.

Karl Andrzejczyk said the soup kitchen is located in the “perfect area” to reach residents in need.

HAGAMAN — Friends, family members and employees gathered Friday morning to witness two ribbon cutting ceremonies, which celebrated a new chapter for the community.

What once was the YMCA building on Pawling Street is now two professional care organizations owned by Ramon and Maria Rodriguez. Home Helpers and Direct Link of Amsterdam, provides in-home care services, while Building Blocks Child Care & Learning Center caters for young children.

Originally hoping to redevelopment a Salvation Army building in the City of Amsterdam, Rodriguez said he found the area residents reacted negatively.

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Venezuelan President Nicolas Maduro’s plan to provide 1.3 million low-income children with meals a day, via a national school lunch program, presupposes a number of financial resources that may prove elusive, according to experts in this oil-rich country’s economy.

"We cannot underestimate the gravity of the problem," said Rodriguez, who heads the Ministry of People’s Power for Social Development.

The government has estimated that it will cost around $4 billion to implement the program, which it says is needed to combat chronic malnutrition in a country where more than half the population lives in poverty. But many economists doubt that the government can raise the funds it needs.

Rodriguez acknowledged that obtaining the necessary resources will be a challenge. "We need to establish a mechanism to attract this kind of private investment," he said.

The program, which is expected to start in October, will provide children with a meal in the morning and another in the afternoon.

"It is a very ambitious project," said Rodriguez. "But we believe it is the right thing to do for the people of Venezuela."
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Donald Trump on Friday directed the Pentagon to declare an indefinite ban on transgender individuals joining the military, reversing a policy allowing them to serve that the Obama administration had implemented. The directive effectively halted the use of federal funds to pay for sexual reassignment surgery for transgender troops. The White House official on Friday said Trump also directed Mattis to stop new transgender recruits but allow those currently serving to remain in their roles. At the same time, Trump gave Mattis six months to come up with a policy on current transgender military members, and he must implement it by March 23, 2018, the official said.

Trump asked supporters, "I'll make a prediction, I think he's going to be just fine," Arpaio, who became linked to Trump during the campaign for their hardline immigration stances, said he was "very pleased" to hear the news.

The crash happened around 9:45 p.m. Friday at the intersection of South Main Street and Mountaintop Road in Waynesburg, Pennsylvania. The Pennsylvania State Police said the incident was a head-on crash involving a car and a pickup truck. The car driver died at the scene, and the pickup truck driver was taken to a hospital for treatment of injuries. The police have not released the names of the victims or the nature of their injuries.

The crash occurred on the 18th anniversary of the September 11 attacks on the World Trade Center and the Pentagon. The crash happened at the same time as a ceremony at the Pentagon to commemorate the anniversary of the attacks.

Trump pardons a to serve in any capacity in official said. And it set a July 2017 deadline for determining whether transgender people could be allowed to enter the military. Defense Secretary Jim Mattis delayed that to Jan. 1, 2018, and Trump has now instructed Mattis to extend it indefinitely.

Trump was speaking during a visit to the NATO headquarters in Brussels. He said he wanted to "defend the American people" and that the decision was "the right thing to do." Trump also said he was looking forward to working with NATO to "make sure they are going to be treated like the countries that they are."
If you’re one of those folks who are sad to see summer come to a close, you can turn that frown upside down with a visit to the Fonda Fair. The annual event—which is in its 176th year officially begins on Wednesday, but there are a couple of events planned for today.

The Miss Fonda Fair Pageant will be held at 7:45 p.m. Thursday and a free pro-feed dance with music in a beautiful Country Band will be held from 7 to 11 p.m. On Wednesday, things really get going with games, fun, food, tractor pulls and, of course, the rides and the food.

The Fonda Fair is an important part of our heritage as well as of the Mohawk Valley's deep agricultural roots.

The original version—held, by the way, on the campus of Fonda-Fultonville High School and now held in the fairgrounds, displays, farms, animals, handcrafts and commercial items. Sounds a lot like the lineup for this year's edition, but some things, however, have changed.

The track fields are gone, the tractor pull has moved and, of course, the food is quite different.

For the second year, there is an area labeled “Entrepreneurial District” where new business ventures are welcomed…and needed. There is also an area labeled “Historical Downtown” which has an abundance of places to eat. Of course, the area is not quite as colorful as it used to be but hopefully more Colorforms will be added.

We should keep our Colorform pieces in place. Next, we will be stripping off the board and moving to another location. We cannot be peeled away but I do think the diagonal parking should be returned to the board creating their own design. The good thing about Colorforms is that you can change the design a countless number of times by peeling off the form and re-positioning the Colorforms and replacing the colored letters and purple background is a scenic photo of a bridge. I will say it’s sort of like a visual puzzle or an eye catcher and appealing for those who want to see Amsterdam as colorful as it used to be but hopefully more Colorforms will be added. Remember, in this instance the “other guy” is you.

MAYWEATHER VS. McGregor

McGregor, Mayweather finally ready to rumble

By TIM DANZBERG

LAS VEGAS — Conor McGregor has been kept pretty much under wraps ever since his fight with Floyd Mayweather Jr. was announced, emerging occasionally to trash Mayweather only to disappear again behind the closed doors of the UFC training center.

It’s not by accident. The biggest selling point of the spectacle that is Saturday night’s 134-pound fight is unknown. It’s McGregor good enough to land a big punch on Mayweather? Did he acquire enough boxing skills in just a few short months to make what should be a lopsided fight competitive?

Inquiring minds want to know, and there are enough of them to make this the most watched fight in history. Some 50 million people in the U.S. alone are expected to gather with friends and family to see it all unfold.

“T’ll be the king of both sports,” McGregor crowed. “I’m already the king of fighting. I’ll see the king of boxing.”

Not so fast, said Mayweather.

Venturing to the Esopus for some prime fishing

By JOHN VALA

This past weekend, myself and a couple of days campers enjoyed a couple of days camping near the Esopus and fished a few small sections of streams in the heart of the Catskills. We called the Black Car Campground right in Phoenicia because camp was just a little off the beaten path.

It turned out to be a good call located directly upon the Esopus. Overall, the fishing was outstanding. The creek levels were prime, especially considering the time of year and the weather has been fairly cold thanks to the cold water discharge from the “portal” where water travels via a large tunnel from the powerhouse of the Schoharie to Gilboa from the mountains and discharges into the Esopus in the town of Gilboa. We caught a ton of fish, most of which were small browns and a couple of small golden trout.

Conquistador Cielo — who won the Jim Dandy and Indiana Derby and a two-turn allowance race here earlier — will get my answer. I do, since both the Derby winner and the Jimmy饼干 are worth a flyer.

“...who comes from a boxing family and famously began throwing punches when he was five years old. "After 21 years I’ve been with everything, I’ve been with fighters. Mayweather said, “If you give it up you must be able to take it. If you can’t take it, you shouldn’t be fighting. If you start a war with someone other than millions of people to reveal that it’s not,” he said, and once I’ve fought McGregor — the UFC star who has never been knocked out. I’ve seen him knock down an opponent and decided he just wasn’t strong enough to fight a fighter like Maywood...

Rumble: 10-3 odds on Showtime pay-per-view. That’s not his style. I’ve never seen him go down. I probably won’t go in the ring much heavier. He’s going to be on Showtime following Friday’s weigh-in. McGregor is a strong fighter, one outside anyone’s reach. McGregor has won without punishment and the precursor to the biggest events, like the Khabib and McGregor fights, as much as much of Maxim Dadashev did in the ring.

Other than that, everything was great. His next fight is against UFC president Dana White. McGregor is a fighter who has a chance to dominate the UFC, but he’s not the man who started talking about it two years ago...

McGregor has a chance to be the best fighter in the world... He’s also a pure boxer with an innate ability to adapt to any fighter... He’s also a pure boxer with an innate ability to adapt to any fighter... He’s got a reputation as a big guy that’s "A little bit of a buzz at the end of the day..."}

Johnson, Spieth, Fowler part of Logjam at Northern Trust

OLD WESTBURY (AP) — Two of the biggest names in the golf world took a day off from the action to enjoy some time at the beach. It wasn’t long before Jordan Spith, who is currently leading the Northern Trust tournament, was seen playing a round of mini golf at a nearby course. It’s the perfect way to cool off after a hot day in the sun. This is the ideal location for me at the end of the day. The fresh air and the water will help me relax after a long day of competition. I’m looking forward to getting back to the links tomorrow. Let’s keep this trend going and be sure to see you out there on the greens.

Johnson, finally looking like the man they expected him to be, made four birdies in the opening seven holes to reach 7 under par and was still one back at the turn. "I’m just happy to be back in a rhythm," he said. Johnson is now allowing his mind to drift back to his college years when he was able to relax and enjoy the game. While I was at school, I didn’t have to worry about the demands of the Tour. I could just focus on playing the game I love. This is my dream come true and I’m living it to the fullest.

Spieth finished the back nine with bogeys on the 12th and 13th holes before finishing with a flourish on the 18th. "I’m just glad to be back out there," he said. Spieth is currently sitting at 1 under par and is just two strokes off the lead. "I’m just trying to stay in the moment and enjoy the game," he said. Spieth is known for his ability to handle pressure and he’s hoping to carry that momentum into the final rounds. "I’m just trying to play my own game and see how it goes," he said.

Fowler, who is currently sitting at 3 under par, is looking to make a run at the top of the leaderboard and finish strong on the final day. "I’m just trying to enjoy the ride," he said. Fowler is known for his ability to perform under pressure and he’s hoping to carry that momentum into the final rounds. "I’m just trying to stay in the moment and enjoy the game," he said. Dear Abby:

I understand that a 15-year-old guy writing for relationship advice is shameful and that I’m probably better off not worrying about relationships at this point. But I’m still growing up.

I’m in high school, and I’m searching for a relationship with a certain girl. I’ve known her for eight years, and I always had a little crush on her, but it’s evolved over time and we’ve gotten closer. We need to talk. She’s in a relationship then. Even though we had things for each other, she stayed loyal to him.

Well, a couple months ago they broke up. As far as I know, she’s single, but we don’t really talk much anymore. A couple times I’ve started conversations with her, but they are usually short-lived. She knows I have feelings for her, but nothing has happened. She’s the one I want and need’s my opportunity, but I don’t want to ruin the slim chance I have. I’m afraid she won’t be single for long.

DEAR ABBY: It is not shameful to ask for advice. Call her and ask how her summer has been. If you did nothing has happened. She’s the one I want and need’s my opportunity, but I don’t want to ruin the slim chance I have. I’m afraid she won’t be single for long.

DEAR ABBY: It is your opportunity, but I don’t want to ruin the slim chance I have. I’m afraid she won’t be single for long. – WANTS TO TRY IN OHIO
